Ol Ari Nyiro

- 365km² of unspoilt wilderness on the edge of Kenya’s Great Rift Valley
- Home to hundreds of migratory elephant who come here looking for a safe haven to breed
- A refuge for large numbers of lion, cheetah, leopard, buffalo, as well as 478 species of birds (and counting)
- A vibrant variety of community projects and social enterprises helping to support and educate local communities
- We are on the front line of wildlife protection, fighting the war against poaching with our rangers every day, and developing long term strategies to curb habitat loss

Our Wildlife Guardians

In 2008, poaching of elephants rose dramatically throughout Africa. In 2011, we lost an unprecedented 63 elephants on the conservancy. We had no choice but to channel resources into increasing our ranger force and giving them better training and equipment. As a result, we have seen a decrease in poaching in the subsequent years. In 2015, we lost 9 elephants. This year, 7 elephants have been poached. The program is working, but we need your help.

- Our rangers are our heroes
- They spend months at a time in the bush, patrolling on foot through arduous territory to protect elephant, lion and other animals
- They risk their lives everyday taking on the heavily armed poachers

Please sponsor a ranger and help us protect our elephants for future generations. We promise that 100% of your donation will go straight into anti-poaching efforts in the field.
